

Visit the Trossachs Landscape Photography Competition 2017

There are 5 categories of photograph & each person can enter up to a maximum of 5 images, with no more than 3 images in any single category. The categories are:

- i. LANDSCAPES: These are images that capture the beauty and essence of a natural inland view.
- ii. SEASCAPES: These are images that capture the beauty and essence of a natural coastal view.
- iii. URBAN & CITYSCAPES: These are images that capture the essence of a town or city. This is a very wide and varied category with much scope. It may be a classic view of an historic city or it may be an alternative and modern view. It may or may not include people. This category can also include transportation and indoor shots.
- iv. LIVING THE LANDSCAPE: These are images of people or animals interacting with the outdoors – working or playing in the landscape. Possible subjects include mountain bikers, hill runners, kite surfers, walkers, farmers, etc, as long as your picture shows people within their outdoor environment. No close-up portraits please – this category is about the interaction, not the person or animal per se.
- v. NIGHT SKY: These are images of the night sky, including stars, the Milky Way and the Northern or Southern Lights. These will typically show a portion of the land or sea but must be taken in a single image. A reminder that composite images are not permitted. This is not the category for nighttime urban images, which should be entered into the Urban & Cityscapes category.

In all 5 categories, we are looking for exceptional combinations of subject, composition and light. Technical criteria such as image sharpness and correct exposure may also be used to evaluate images but it should be stressed that intentionally blurred or under/over exposed images are perfectly acceptable. What is more important is that your images evoke mood / emotion and captures the attention of the judges.
